York officials broke ground $32.5 million stadium that will be the new home for the York Revolution. The stadium is being paid through the use of state grants and private contributors, including the York Professional Baseball Club, which is a subsidiary of Keystone Professional Baseball. An additional $1 million will come from the York County Industrial Development Authority, which will become the stadium owner.

The facility is set to open by June of 2007 in time for the York Revolution to play most or all of its first season there.
