

MLB Players to Wear Special Stars and Stripes Caps on Independence Day

Written by Maury Brown
Wednesday, 03 July 2013 12:39

As the ad went, there's baseball, apple pie and Chevrolet. When we think of baseball, it's often in the context as a wholly American experience, so it's not surprising that on patriotic holidays, Major League Baseball promotes it.

As was the case on Memorial Day , tomorrow on Independence Day, players will wear specially designed "Stars & Stripes" caps from New Era. This marks the sixth consecutive year that the league has done this with it benefiting ongoing fundraising and awareness initiatives for Welcome Back Veterans , which addresses the needs of returning veterans and their families.

According to the league and New Era, the caps will have the American flag etched into the team's logo, with white or gray crowns and blue or red brims and buttons (the Toronto Blue Jays hat will once again incorporate a Maple Leaf design instead of the "Stars & Stripes").

Maury Brown is the Founder and President of the Business of Sports Network , which includes

MLB Players to Wear Special Stars and Stripes Caps on Independence Day

Written by Maury Brown
Wednesday, 03 July 2013 12:39

The Biz of Baseball, The Biz of Football, The Biz of Basketball and The Biz of Hockey. He writes for Baseball Prospectus and is a contributor to Forbes

.
He is available as a freelance writer

.
Brown's full bio is here.
He looks forward to your comments via email and can be contacted here

.

Follow Maury Brown on Twitter

Follow The Biz of Baseball on Twitter 